For Best Performance

Battery Charge

A rechargeable Ni-Cd battery powers the handset. Install the battery and charge it for about 4 hours before initial use (p. 16).

Base Unit Location/Noise

Calls are transmitted between the base unit and the handset using wireless radio waves. For maximum distance and noise-free operation, the recommended base unit location is:

Away from electrical appliances such as a TV, personal computer or another cordless phone.

In a HIGH and CENTRAL location with no obstructions such as walls.

- If more than one cordless phone is being used and your handset is near another cordless phone's base unit, noise may be heard. Move away from the other cordless phone's base unit and closer to your base unit.

The battery strength will remain on the display for 5 seconds after using the handset, then the display will return to the stand-by mode (see next page).

The battery strength is shown as in the chart below.

- If you DO NOT recharge the handset battery for more than 15 minutes, the display will keep indicating “Recharge” and/or “[]” will continue to flash.

Battery information

After your Panasonic battery is fully charged (p. 16):

Operation		Approx. battery life
While in use (TALK)	near the base unit*	Up to about 6 hours
	away from the base unit	Up to about 4 hours
While not in use (Stand-by)		Up to about 7 days

*Within about 10 feet (3 m)

- Battery life may be shortened depending on usage conditions, such as viewing the Caller ID Caller List, and ambient temperature.
- Clean the handset and the base unit charge contacts with a soft, dry cloth once a month. Clean more often if the unit is subject to grease, dust or high humidity. Otherwise the battery may not charge properly.
- If the battery is fully charged, you do not have to place the handset on the base unit until “Recharge” is displayed and/or “[]” flashes. This will maximize the battery life.
- The battery cannot be overcharged.

Stand-by Mode

Handset (While off the base unit)

The handset goes into the stand-by mode after you finish using the handset (making/answering a call, viewing the Caller List etc.). The display is blank, but the handset can receive calls. The battery life is conserved in this mode.

Base unit

The base unit goes into the stand-by mode after you finish using the base unit (making/answering a call, using the intercom, using the answering system etc.). Programming and storing phone numbers are possible only when the base unit is in the stand-by mode.

FCC and Other Information

If requested by the telephone company, inform them as follows:

FCC Registration No. (found on the bottom of the unit)
Ringer Equivalence. 0.2B
The particular telephone lines to which the equipment is connected.

This unit must not be connected to a coin operated line.

If you are on a party line, check with your local telephone company.

Ringer Equivalence No. (REN):

The REN is useful in determining the quantity of devices you may connect to your telephone line and still have all of those devices ring when your telephone number is called. In most, but not all areas, the sum of the REN's of all devices connected to one line should not exceed five (5.0). To be certain of the number of devices you may connect to your line, as determined by the REN, you should contact your local telephone company to determine the maximum REN for your calling area.

In the event terminal equipment causes harm to the telephone network, the telephone company should notify the customer, if possible, that service may be stopped.

However, where prior notice is impractical, the company may temporarily cease service providing that they:

- (a) Promptly notify the customer.
- (b) Give the customer an opportunity to correct the problem with their equipment.
- (c) Inform the customer of the right to bring a complaint to the Federal Communication Commission pursuant to procedures set out in FCC Rules and Regulations Subpart E of Part 68.

The Telephone Company may make changes in its communications facilities, equipment, operations or procedures, where such action is reasonably required in the operation of its business and is not inconsistent with the rules and regulations in FCC Part 68.

If such changes can be reasonably expected to render any customer terminal equipment incompatible with telephone company communications facilities, or require modification or alteration of such terminal equipment, or otherwise materially affect its use or performance, the customer shall be given adequate notice in writing, to allow the customer an opportunity to maintain uninterrupted service.

When programming emergency numbers and/or making test calls to emergency numbers:

1. Remain on the line and briefly explain to the dispatcher the reason for the call before hanging up.
2. Perform such activities in the off-peak hours, such as early morning hours or late evenings.

This device complies with Part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

Privacy of communications may not be ensured when using this phone.

CAUTION:

Any changes or modifications not expressly approved by the party responsible for compliance could void the user's authority to operate this device.

Note:

This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to Part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. This equipment generates, uses, and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit different from that to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help.

Some cordless telephones operate at frequencies that may cause interference to nearby TVs and VCRs. To minimize or prevent such interference, the base of the cordless telephone should not be placed near, or on top of a TV or VCR.

If interference is experienced, move the cordless telephone farther away from the TV or VCR. This will often reduce, or eliminate, interference.

(The unit operates in the frequency range of 905MHz to 926MHz and the power output level can range from 0.001 watts to 0.2 watts.) Do not use the unit in health care facilities if any regulations posted in the area instruct you not to do so. Hospitals or health care facilities may be using equipment that could be sensitive to external RF (radio frequency) energy.
- Routine care—wipe the unit with a soft cloth. Do not use benzine, thinner, or any abrasive powder. When you leave the unit unused for a long period of time, unplug the AC adaptor from the outlet.
